RE: Small Business Majority Support for House Bills 2747 and 2047

Dear Chair Gallick, Vice-Chair Thompson, and Members of the House Committee on Economic Development,

Small Business Majority writes again to respectfully express our support for Clean Slate Missouri (HB 2747 and 2047), common-sense legislation that would grow Missouri's workforce, strengthen the economy and support the thousands of small business owners across the state. We are a national small business organization that empowers America's diverse entrepreneurs to build a thriving and equitable economy. With a network of more than 85,000 small businesses and 1,500 business and community organizations, we help deliver resources to entrepreneurs and advocate for public policy solutions that promote inclusive small business growth.

At Small Business Majority, we know that small businesses are the heart of Missouri and they make up more than 99% of all businesses in the state. Unfortunately, Missouri businesses of all sizes are facing an ongoing labor shortage with 53 available workers for every 100 open jobs. This has an enormous impact on the state's workforce and economy.

The labor shortage is further exacerbated by the reality that 1 in 3 American adults – and nearly two million Missourians – have some form of a criminal record. For these individuals, having a record – even when it is decades-old – can present significant barriers to meaningful employment, housing, education, occupational licensing and other critical services. It can also severely limit a person's ability to start a new business. As employers seek to fill these vacancies and Missouri looks to strengthen its economy, we should be working to ensure that people who want jobs and are ready to work can enter the workforce.

Clean Slate would help remove these unnecessary barriers – and small business owners across Missouri would benefit. In 2022, we polled small business owners across the country, and found overwhelming support for reforms that would remove barriers to employment or entrepreneurship opportunities for formerly incarcerated individuals. In fact, 84% of small business owners agreed that Clean Slate policies would open up a pool of applicants that have earned a second chance. This, in turn, would benefit small businesses in their efforts to hire and recruit employees. Passing Clean Slate would allow employers – big and small – to tap into a vast, underutilized, and productive workforce.

The impact on employment prospects and earning potential can also hardly be understated. A study in Michigan found that automatic record sealing increases wages by more than 20% within one year alone; without being burdened by a criminal record, justice-impacted individuals can earn significantly more. Further, employers who hire justice-impacted workers consistently report that their turnover rates are notably lower and the quality of work of individuals who have a criminal record are on par with or better than their peers. For small business owners, these benefits are anything but small.

Clean Slate would help small businesses flourish, all while bolstering the workforce, strengthening the economy, and making Missouri a better place to live and work. Small Business Majority urges the legislature to pass Clean Slate (HB 2747 and HB 2047).

Sincerely,

Awesta Sarkash
